

Kathleen White

Head of Consultant Relations
Maven Clinic
New York, New York

Kathleen brings over 30 years of deep business acumen, with 25 years specifically in the competitive health care industry, to her role as head of consultant relations (CR) at Maven Clinic. Kathleen is responsible for setting the national CR strategy and leading a high-performing team dedicated to maximizing Maven's influence across the major consulting houses. Her focus is on transforming consultant relationships into a primary source of pipeline and revenue growth by driving in-market activity and deep cross-functional partnership with Maven's sales and payer teams. Prior to Maven, Kathleen was instrumental in building the consultant relations function at Omada Health during their drive toward a public offering. She has also held numerous senior positions in health plan and clinical program account management at major carriers, including Blue Cross, United Health Group, and Delta Dental. Kathleen holds a bachelor of science degree from the University of Minnesota. Outside of her executive career, she enjoys golf, gardening, cooking, and fitness.
